

Remembrance

Words by

Edward Bulwer Lytton,

Music by

W. H. J. GRAHAM.

3½

NEW-YORK.

Published by Wm. A. POND & Co. 547 Broadway.

Boston.
D. DITSON & Co.

Buffalo.
J. R. BLODGETT.

Chicago.
ROBT & DADY.

Milwaukee.
H. N. HEMPSTED.

Entered according to Act of Congress in 1865 by Wm. A. Pond & Co. in the Clerk's Office of the District Court of the Southern District of New-York.

Stackpole.

1865
Graham.

"REMEMBRANCE"

Music by W. H. J. GRAHAM.

Andante.

1. 'Twas eve and May when last thro' tears, Thine eyes sought mine, thy hand my hand, The night came down her si - lent spheres And up the si - lent land. In silence too our thoughts were furld'

Like ring - doves in the dreaming grove, Who would not, lightly lose the world, To keep such love, to keep such love; Who would not lightly lose the world, To keep, to keep such love.

p

2 But ma - ny Mays with all their flow'rs, Are fa - ded
3 As tho' for some se - rene dead brow, These wreaths for since that bliss - ful time, - The last of all my hap - py me, I let them twine, I hear the voice of praise and hours, In the gold - en clime. By hands not know, And know it is not thine. How ma - ny thine these wreaths were curld, That hide the care my brows a - bove, long and lone - ly days, I strove with life thy love to gain,

And I have almost gain'd the world,
I know my work was worth thy praise,
But lost thy But all was love, have lost thy love, And I have almost gain'd the world, vain, but all was vain, I know my work was worth thy praise,

But lost, have lost thy love.
'Twas all, 'twas all in vain.

